

Gray Completes Ordeal on Stand After 17 Hours

Strongly Maintaining Throughout That He Struck The First Blow And That The Murder Was Accomplished Through The Aid Of Mrs. Snyder.

Queens County Court House, New York, May 6 (AP).—Henry Judd Gray today completed his ordeal upon the witness stand in the court where he is on trial for his life.

Seventeen hours after he voluntarily assumed the witness chair, all the attorneys had done with him and court was adjourned for lunch.

Throughout all the questioning Gray had stoutly maintained his story that he had struck the first blow but that the murder of Albert Snyder could never have been accomplished but for the aid of Mrs. Ruth Snyder.

Gray Very Polite.

As court opened today, Gray back in the witness chair, Mrs. Snyder's counsel, Dana Wallace, resumed his cross-examination.

Gray was calm and answered in a clear even voice. Mrs. Snyder sat staring at him from the defense counsel table.

Wallace questioned Gray about his income, which averaged $5,500 a year, and about his drinking, which Gray said often exceeded half a dozen drinks a day.

Gray insisted his bibulous habits did not cut into his income to such an extent that he was in desperate straits for money.

The courteous manner in which Gray answered all questions, ending each sentence with a polite "sir" or "Mr. Wallace," seemed to annoy the examining attorney.

"Don't call me Mr. Wallace," he snapped. "All I want of you is just yes or no to my questions."

"Very well, Mr. Wallace," Gray agreed and Wallace glared at him.

The questioning dealt in detail with a $1,000 loan Gray had secured shortly before Snyder was killed. Gray said he borrowed the money to buy some stock in the company he worked for.

"You have admitted the slaying of Albert Snyder, have you not?" Wallace suddenly asked, and Gray's counsel objected and was sustained. The question was withdrawn and rephrased.

Had Nothing to Gain.

"You have sworn to the part you took in the series of acts that resulted in the death of Albert Snyder?" Wallace asked.

"I have told the truth," Gray replied.

"Why did you take that part in the attack on Snyder? What had you to gain by his death?"

"That," said the little corset salesman, "is what I would like to know."

"You mean you had nothing to gain?"

"I certainly did not."

The questioning then turned to the happenings in Syracuse when Gray prepared an alibi and got rid of damning evidence.

Wallace then quoted the part of Gray's testimony where she said he called to Mrs. Snyder to help him and she picked up the weight and beat her husband.

"Now isn't it true that you hit Snyder three times and then you called 'Mommie' in from the other room and said 'see what I have done'?"

"That is not true."

Breaks Conversation.

Gray then denied a conversation other witnesses had testified to while he was waiting for a bus after the killing.

"Didn't you say to an elderly man that you'd hate to have a policeman who was shooting at a target firing at you?"

Wallace asked.

"I did not."

"Were you excited at the time?"

"More dazed than excited."

"But not so dazed that that a little time before you had had presence of mind enough to take your glasses off before going into Snyder's room?"

"I did take my glasses off."

"Did you hear Mrs. Snyder testify that before the killing she took a revolver away from you and put it on the piano?"

"That's what she said."

"Isn't it true?"

"It is not. I never saw that pistol until after Snyder was hit up."

But you knew the pistol was in the house and that you had no weapon but the coin weight and yet you didn't ask Mrs. Snyder for the pistol?"

"That is right."

Cross-Examination by Prosecution.

Suddenly Wallace turned to his next with a rest "that is all," and the cross-examination for Mrs. Snyder was over 12 hours after it began. District Attorney Schwartz began cross-examining for the state.

"You said Lorraine's door was locked the night of the killing?"

"Yes."

"Who locked it?"

"Mrs. Snyder."

"What did she say to you about Snyder being asleep?"

"She said we'd have to wait until he was asleep."

"When asleep?"

"When you went to Queens Village you saw her?"

"Yes she beckoned me from the kitchen window. I went in, she asked if I would go through and I said yes, and I said no."

"You didn't stick on the sign that forbade you from, did you?"

Canada Prepares To Quench Thirst

Ontario Border Towns Making "Homes" for Thirsty Americans When New Liquor Control Law Goes In Effect on May 15.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 6 (AP).—Canadian "homes" for thirsty Americans are being prepared along the Ontario border.

The real estate activity is in anticipation of the inauguration of Ontario's liquor control system, tentatively set for May 15. Repeal of the province's temperance act has aroused interest over a stretch of miles on the Canadian side of the border in possibilities for developing places that will meet the Ontario definition of "homes."

The government will sell "hard" liquor, and either residents or tourists may drink in their homes, tourists' camps, hotels and boarding houses coming under this classification. Liquor permits will be sold to citizens, and a citizen, under the meaning of the law, is anyone who has resided 30 days in the community. A liquor permit, good for 39 days will be sold for $2.

A rush of millions of Americans is expected during the summer months and extensive plans are being made to assist them in being "at home."

Along the Niagara frontier, ranging between Lakes Erie and Ontario, there are many small hotels ready to cater to Americans, as they attempted to do when a law went on sale in 1925. The beer law permitted serving at tables, but under the new regulations rooms must be made available.

For years many wealthy Americans have owned Canadian homes. The influx this year, however, will not be confined to the rich.

Bridge and Boose Boom Land.

The construction of the international "Peace Bridge," across the Niagara between Buffalo and Fort Erie, Ont., caused a distinct advance in real estate values, and the new liquor law has added another decided boost.

Since the bridge was built the vast undeveloped farming section west of Fort Erie and along the north shore has opened to Americans possibilities of home sites, and there has been a movement away from crowded suburbs on the American side. That situation has existed for several years, but it has increased since the liquor law became a certainty.

A real estate firm, making a specialty in developing Canadian property, says figures quoted for Lake Erie waterfront property five years ago must now be multiplied by ten to be interesting.

The boom is not confined to border residents. Orders for land from natives have met competition from other sections, and people from the south and east have joined the line with money in their hands.

Build Large Club House.

Entertainment for visitors will not be entirely liquid. At a point overlooking Lake Erie is to be built a large club house, the nucleus of a country club, which is to have Americans as members. The week-end possibilities are regarded as extensive.

Building Inspector George Wood of Windsor has reported issuance of permits totaling $1,290,000 for the first two and one-half months of the year, exceeding by several hundred thousand dollars the figures for the same period last year.

A ten story hotel is being built at Windsor, as another hotel contemplates the construction of an addition. Walkerville, adjoining Windsor, has reported building activity, and Ford promises to be an oasis of cafes. Riverside, near by, also has set a record for building permits issued.

Tourist Camp and Cottages. Sault St. Marie has begun its preparations for an army of visitors. An addition to a hotel is being built and five tourist camps are under construction on St. Mary's river and other locations in the vicinity of Canadian Sault. Hundreds of cottages are being put up, scattering from St. Joseph's Island to Batchewaga Bay.

Sault St. Marie, Mich., expects to have a place in the picture as entrance to Canadian territory is through the American Sault. However, a new hotel being built there will not be completed until September.

A portion of the American capital being invested in Canada will find its way directly to the liquor industry. An announcement has been made of a $1,000,000 brewery to be constructed at Bridgeburg, opposite Buffalo, with a Canadian president, but a former Buffalo brewer as vice president.

Increase Customs Guards.

Two direct effects of the new law will be felt on the right hand side of the border. One will be a decided increase of the customs forces at strategic points to prevent the Americans from transferring whiskey from their Canadian homes to other homes in the United States.

The number of conventions to be held during the summer at Niagara Falls and Buffalo will show a decided increase over those of previous years if the early reservations are indicative of later convention activity.

Canadians, too, have given thought to precautions against violations of the law. Some village officials, heading the warning of dry members of parliament, are taking steps to increase their police forces.

National pride will not condone overlooking the latest prospective "good thing" in some locality. Work on a building intended to house a night club operated on a roadhouse plan, with facilities for accommodating hordes of Americans, has been suspended at Welland, Ont., in the face of a severe frown of public opinion.

CHERRYTOWN.

Cherrytown, May 5.—The special meetings in the Cherrytown Reformed Church, which started on Sunday last and were continued throughout the week, were well attended and the messages imparted by Mr. McClinton were well received. The meetings will be held next week also. Sunday afternoon there will be a meeting at 2 o'clock and all who cannot attend the evening devotion are invited. A special invitation is extended to children and parents are requested to bring the babies also. The regular evening meeting will be held at 7:45 and every night there will be preaching. There will be no services on Saturday night.

DULL AND BRIGHT BOYS.

The bright boy in school helps to make things go, while the dull boy is a drag as well as an annoyance. Inevitably teachers like the former and are obliged to make an effort even to tolerate the latter. And yet they know from experience or from hearsay that later the dull boy not infrequently overtakes the bright one and forges far ahead in the race of life. They forget that the bright boy may be endowed merely with a good memory and that the seemingly dull boy may be developing slowly but surely. In view of this inevitable attitude of most teachers, it is rather surprising to learn from London Morning Post reprint that at a recent teachers' conference in England "there was positive glorification of the child who is dull at school."

It appears that in defense of the dull boy at this conference it was pointed out that numerous geniuses were classified as dunces in their youth. For example, "Sir Walter Scott's headmaster said he had the thickest head in the school," and "the mother of Hume, the historian, said that in her opinion he was weak-minded." Chatterton and Fanny Burney, among others, were rated very low in their schools. In more recent times even Mr. Churchill himself was far from being able to look back with pride upon his record at Harrow.

It could have been shown further by numerous examples that precocity in children is not likely to be lasting, such marvelous youngsters being rarely heard of in after life, and that a slower and more normal development gives promise of more satisfactory results in the end.

"MAN NEVER AN APE."

From the outset there were anthropologists who openly questioned the theory, originated by Lamarck and developed by Darwin, that the human race descended from "hairy tailed quadrupeds" or tree-dwelling apes, and in these times the anti-Darwinians appear to be increasing in numbers and boldness of assertion. At the recent Philadelphia meeting of the American Philosophical Society, among others Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History, more than questioned the Darwinian hypothesis. Dr. Osborn once more asserted that man was never an ape and that "the myth of ape ancestry" no longer has any basis in the findings of science. He traces the human race back to the "dawn man" of a million years ago who "belongs to a distinct family, the hominids, ground-living, cursorial, alert, capable of tool making, walking erect, with a distinctly human brain, altogether separate from the low order of tree-dwelling creatures from which the present apes are descended."

"I regard the ape-human theory as totally false and misleading," Dr. Osborn declared. "It should be banished from our speculations and from our literature, not on sentimental grounds, but on purely scientific grounds." And further: "It is our recent studies of behaviorism of the anthropoid apes as contrasted with the behaviorism of the progenitors of man, which compel us to separate the entire ape stock very widely from the human stock." Several great anthropologists, Dr. Osborn declared, had been forced to "reverse engines" in the "study of the great drama of the pre-history of man." In this controversy, in addition to Huxley, he placed Hans Virchow and Ernst Haeckel, the latter of whom had once "vigorously" repudiated the ape ancestry hypothesis by ignoring the profound cleavage between ape and man.

In his recent broadcast speech President Coolidge declared for peace, good-will, understanding and moderation; disapproved of conquest, aggression and exploitation by big game anywhere; favored a restrictive program as well as a free press; denounced a narrow and bigoted nationalism; and proclaimed that he stood for law, order, protection of life and property, respect for sovereignty and the principles of international law. He must say to all of us, for authority in the civilized world will venture to question the statements of these and similar broad general principles. The real difficulty is to be able to determine in each case exactly what is right, just, or truly patriotic, and to be willing to concede the honesty of differing opinion both at home and abroad.

Callous indeed must be the heart that can not be touched by the news from Louisiana that the rear of the Mississippi's flood, reinforced by the waters of the swollen Arkansas and Red River, as it leaps through the four now crooked south of Vidalia, "can be heard for miles by the people fleeing before the invasion, taking with them such of their belongings as they can carry and, where possible, driving their farm animals along also"—and not knowing at what moment they may be overtaken by the remorseless surge.

We read that the London Daily Telegraph "finds it hard to reconcile President Coolidge's attitude toward the vested rights of Americans in Latin-America with the great reluctance shown at Washington to join the British in defending their vested rights in China." That seems rather stupid of the London editor. A tenuous interest at Washington in the American field than in the British field of foreign exploitation is naturally to be expected.

DESCRIBING YOUR PAIN.

A physician making an examination of a boxer's hand, gave it as his opinion that as there was no fracture, and no swelling to indicate sprain, that the boxer was fit to enter a bout, as far as the outward appearances were concerned.

However, the boxer declined to enter the bout, as he stated that the hand was painful, and would not stand the severe use to which it would be subjected in a ten round engagement.

As he happened to have a reputation for being always willing to box, he was allowed to withdraw without any further question. You are not a boxer but you can have such a severe pain in abdomen, in head, in a joint, that you are incapable of physical or mental effort, and yet there will be nothing to show for it. Pain then is something that only the sufferer understands.

Your doctor can only estimate the location, the nature, and the severity of the pain by what you tell him. Your doctor really has to estimate the degree of pain by his knowledge of you.

Some folks "as a matter of pride" understate the amount of pain, while others habitually magnify their sufferings.

Unfortunately you rather expect the doctor to do two things immediately when you call him in regarding a pain. You want to know what is causing the pain, and you want him to give you something to stop it. One of the best known consultants has written a book describing the different types of pain, and what may cause a pain in any certain part of the body.

He shows by diagram that in the head alone, that is the forehead, top side, and back, pain can be due to half a hundred things. 7 in the eye-balls, 11 in the forehead, 7 at the top of head. The region of the face and ear show 40 ailments that may be causing pain there. Similarly with pain in chest, back, side, abdomen, and so forth.

And the suggestion? The name that was made previously. That is that when you call in your physician to ease a pain, try to describe it accurately without under or overdoing it, and also give him a real chance to learn the cause, before you force him to give you some medicine to allay it. Remember you know more about your own pain than anybody else.

HOW

"FOUR PRINTS" ARE USED TO IDENTIFY ANIMALS.

The loss of some valuable pedigree live stock caused the owner to work out a plan of identification that has since been adopted by insurance companies as a measure of protection. It is the system of taking four prints.

On several occasions thieves have made away with cattle, and have later tried brazenly to sell them in the vicinity of their original homes. And it has been found impossible to prove the correct ownership by ordinary methods of identification. With these prints, however, positive proof of identity can now be given. For it has been found that the designs on the nose of a cow or bull do not change, but merely increase in size. And it has been proved that no two animals have the same markings.

In order to obtain a nose print, it is necessary to hold the animal's head firmly under one arm. Then wipe the nose with a soft piece of flannel or rag. Then take an ordinary office stamping pad, rubbing it over the nose with the ridge as well as the flat. Next take a piece of unmanipulated paper that has been securely fastened to a board and press it firmly against the nose, beginning with the lower part, and press it in a rolling motion gradually upwards.

An insurance company recently used this method with success in connection with a claim.

How Russians Use Sugar

Sugar is costly and difficult to obtain in many isolated Russian villages. The usual way of completing it is to put it in a jar. To take a pinch of sugar, place it between his teeth, and then suck it in through it. No. 1 quickly passes the piece of sugar to his neighbor who takes it in the same way and then transmits it to the next person, and so on until the sugar is all consumed. A gift of a pound of sugar is always welcomed as the highest compliment of regard.

How Temperature Is Affected by Trees

In a discussion of the effect of trees on temperature, Mr. W. B. Leach, city forester of New York, points out that if American streets and parks are well supplied with vigorous trees the summers would be cooler and the winters warmer. He gives as his chief reason for this theory the fact that the temperature of a tree never varies, in summer or in winter, from 54 degrees Fahrenheit. "If we cross one of the avenues on a hot day," states Mr. Leach, "when the temperature is 100 degrees Fahrenheit, and pass under the shade of a tree, we are refreshed by the cool air that meets us. What makes the change? Not the shade alone, but chiefly the fact that we are in the presence of a body that has a fixed temperature of 54 degrees Fahrenheit, or 46 degrees cooler than the street temperature." Likewise, on a cold winter day, in passing from the mere temperature of the street into a group of trees, the warmth experienced is due not only to the shelter afforded by the trees but to the warmth of the trees themselves.

How Sawmill Men "Talk"

To make themselves heard above the noise of the saws, workers at the mills have developed a curious sign language, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Rubbing the stomach signifies approval, "go ahead" or O. K. If the boss is about scolding the chieftain or committing an imaginary mistake given warning. "Stop" is indicated by holding up one hand, palm forward; "Sleepy" head to one side with hand against ear; "help wanted" right hand on muscle of left arm, which is bent to indicate strength; "It's raining" or "going to rain," hands spread out, palms down, while the fingers are curled to indicate falling drops; "Nothing too much," moving the hands to signify a warning jaw; "Disgust," holding the nose and waving the other hand at the offending object as if to say, "go away." The language changes very little except on modifications of machinery accidents now "words," and the system is used with few variations in most large mills.

CAG BUGGIES—Help, Police!

THE LESS FORTUNATE

"I think it would be a good idea," suggested Uncle John, "for you both to visit the blind children. You have seen so much and your eyes have been so busy that perhaps it would be a good thing for you all to realize how much we have to be thankful for—something even more than all the wonders—and you can both guess what I mean."

"I'd like to visit the blind children," said Dorothy.

"Let's read them some of our stories," said Douglas.

Off they went and when they were inside the large building to which Uncle John had taken them Dorothy said:

"I hear them reading aloud. Really I do."

"They can't see to read," said Douglas. "How can they be reading aloud? You must be hearing others—or perhaps they're chatting."

"I'm sure they're reading," persisted Dorothy. "I can tell from the way they go straight on and on. When people talk, they stop and laugh and then talk some more."

To be sure when they went inside a big room where there were a great many children, several were reading aloud to little groups.

"And they have books before them," explained Douglas.

"Yes," said Uncle John. "The stories are made on a queer kind of paper with raised letters. We shall talk to some of the children and see for ourselves—and feel for ourselves."

Reading Aloud.

Douglas and Dorothy soon were talking to many of the blind children. They were shown the work that the blind children did—the things they could make and mend, the baskets and rugs they wove, and the beads they strung.

And the blind children seemed so happy! They were busy and enjoying everything they were doing. They had some plants which they showed to Douglas and Dorothy.

And though they couldn't see, the green leaves and the bright little blossoms, still they felt them as though the cheerful, growing plants gave by their touch some of their brightness.

For a long time Douglas and Dorothy stayed and talked with the blind children. They had a jolly time, but when they came outside they were very quiet.

"Didn't you have a good time, children?" asked Uncle John.

"Don't you think the work they do is remarkable—without being able to see?"

"Yes," answered Dorothy slowly. "Their work is wonderful, but to me what is more wonderful still is that the wonders of the city are all, all dark to them, and yet they are so happy and make those around them happy."

And we often get so grumpy when we have everything—the wonders of the city and real eyes to see them with."

Short on Babies

A little baby brother came to Ruth's cousin and a week later twin boys arrived at her Aunt Emma's several miles distant.

Ruth ran over as soon as she heard about them. "The two bravest," she whispered her little cousin, Marie.

"Well, the story would have blinged twice, too, but they don't run short of babies for week," said Ruth.

A Terrible Fright

My father made a scarecrow so natural that it frightened every crow in the place.

"That's nothing; give me a scare that scared the crows so badly that they brought back the corn they stole three years ago."

One Chance All That Time Accords to Man

How often you hear dad, or some other grownup speak, with a sort of half-sigh in his voice, of what he would do if he were young again. Time goes quickly when you are young, and you are only too likely to put off things you really should do.

Grownups look back to the golden days of their youth as the happiest time of their lives, but there is also something of regret in their backward glance. There are so many things they would like to have done, but didn't.

Unfortunately, time gives us just one chance.

Let's plan things now, then, so as to have as few regrets as possible when we look back from a grownup viewpoint. Let's get lots of exercise, so that the grownup person we're going to be not so many years from now may be fit and strong. Let's not get into little habits of shiftness that will handicap the future. Instead, let us all work hard and play hard, so that when the person we're going to be looks backward, he'll find his youth an encouragement, and not a matter for regret.—Exchange.

Impress of Old Spain

While Cartagena, Colombia, is a most engrossing architectural ruin, a legacy of the old Spanish conquistadores, and a fine example of an ancient Spanish town, passengers en route to the west coast of the United States find that it is also energetically modern.

The Spaniards, when they embarked on their expeditions to the interior of Colombia, had as a goal behind their efforts, the Indian story of a marvelous golden man, El Dorado, and saw him in their dreams as they hacked their way through the almost impassable jungles. Although the Spaniards never located their golden quarry and returned to the coast, to found cities they did succeed in wresting from the bosoms of the hills a vast amount of golden metal which gave to the country the name of the man they had been seeking, El Dorado. And in the cities they founded they left an indelible impress of old Spain.

Old Songs Sound Crude

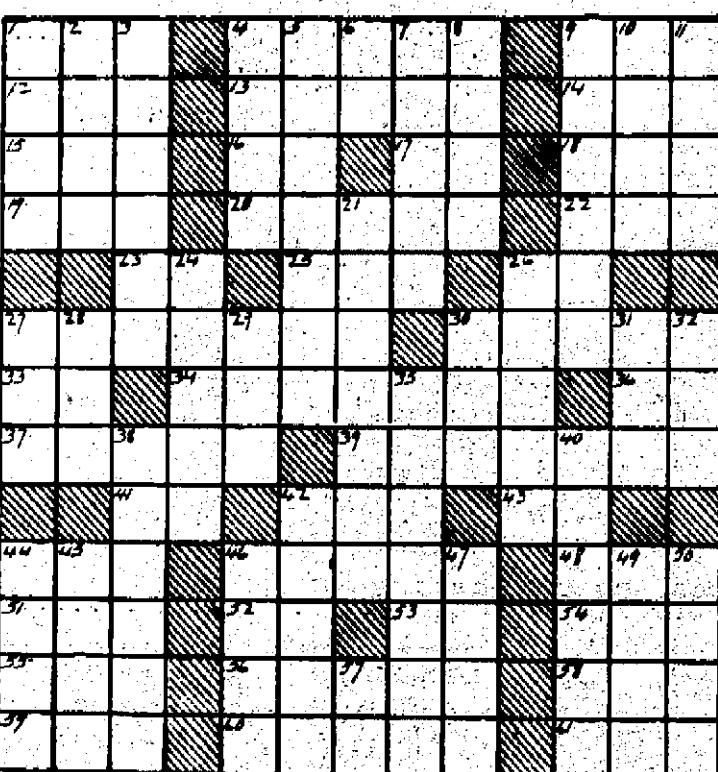

The nearer we get to songs in the making the cruder they are. Very often they are not only incongruous but seem humorous, when they were not intended to be so. Sometimes they seem callous, treating of death with what appears to be an utter disregard of fitting solemnity or tenderness. In most cases this is quite unintended. The humble author intending to express the proper sentiment uses materials with which he is familiar, often parts of several other songs. Or he wishes to use a certain refrain, and this refrain carries over into his mind certain associations. What he does he does in good faith, and if his product is not up to our standards it is not because of intent but because of the crudeness of his attempt.—R. W. Gordon, in Adventure Magazine.

Main Highway In Bad Condition

Woodstock, May 5.—Kingston depends for its very considerable wholesale trade upon the condition of the roads, leading from town in all directions. One of these roads is in exceedingly bad condition from neglect—the main thoroughfare leading westward through the Catskills to Stamford and Oneonta. This is an important road. All through the season big vans go out from Kingston loaded with goods purchased there, and most of the tourist traffic takes the mountains by motor passing over it. This road is here and there in bad condition, and the authorities should put it in better shape at once. Here it is just at the beginning of the tourist season, and there are holes in the road that would break the springs of a good car. To be specific, there is one stretch in Stony Clove where the highway is mostly holes, and just west of Kingston, on the way through the trucking district, are many bad spots. The prosperity of Kingston depends on the condition of the roads leading from it. There should be some immediate effort to have the road improved.

Mrs. Minnie Wyckoff and her daughter, Mildred, have been in town a few days, making ready for the opening of the Old Woodstock Inn, and the tea room connected therewith. People here are all glad that these ladies are to manage the inn again, as their conduct of the place last year was fine. Considerable improvement is being made just now on the first floor of the inn, making the reception rooms more commodious. Mrs. Wyckoff announces that she expects to have a series of auction bridge parties during the season.

The enterprising and popular John W. Bentley has returned from a winter in Los Angeles, Carmel and Santa Barbara, where he was painting during the season. He brought back dozens of sketches and oils. "Jack" and his friend who was with him left Los Angeles on April 24, and arrived here on the 4th of May. They sold the Ford they went out in, and came back in a bigger car. Three thousand miles in ten days is "going some." It is agreed by all concerned that only the high spots were touched.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, May 5.—At the school meetings held in the school houses Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the districts named: No. 13—Henry E. McKen-sie re-elected trustee, Alexander Secor, clerk; Mrs. M. J. Mayer, trustee; Harry Elmendorf, clerk; Mrs. Anna Elting, collector. No. 15—Sarah Gulman, trustee. At the meeting in District No. 1 it was voted to put electric lights in the school house. A communication from the department of education in reference to consolidation was read by Mr. Van Orden but the matter was not taken up. There was a large attendance.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the M. E. Church will hold a rummage sale in Kingston next week and people having articles to donate are asked to leave them at the home of Mrs. Ernest Hutchings on Broadway or at the parsonage. If articles are too large to be carried the committee will call for them.

Miss Fern Lynn of Green street, who has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Rankin Lynn at Staten Island, has returned home.

At the next meeting of Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, on Wednesday evening, May 18, a pot luck dinner will be served. Every member is asked to be present and contribute.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Mowell and family have moved from their home on Salem street to the flat of Miss Edith Lampman on Broadway. Mr. and Mrs. Mowell will open up a restaurant next week.

Mrs. Wilbur Matthews of Broadway, who spent a few days with her husband in New York city, has returned home.

MORE THAN 1,000 WOLVES KILLED IN TEXAS DRIVE

Poison Used to End Lives of Marauding Animals in Big Bend Country.

Marfa, Texas.—More than one thousand wolves were killed in the Big Bend region of Texas in a ten days' poisoning campaign conducted by Henry Lindley. It required 40,000 baits to bring about the wholesale death of these predatory animals. The mixing of the poisonous baits was done under the supervision of C. H. Landon of the predatory animal control division of the United States biological survey.

The poison was consisted of 50 percent strychnine placed upon a piece of fresh fat pork, two inches square and one-fourth of an inch thick. The animals seemed to have a special liking for the pork and they came out of the mountains in great numbers and gulped down the bait. Upon one ranch, within a radius of a few hundred feet, 28 wolves were found lying dead the morning following the laying of the poison.

It was in response to complaints from ranchmen of the Big Bend region that wolves were killing young calves, lambs and kids in great numbers that Mr. Landon came here and made an investigation of the situation. He conferred with a number of ranchmen and arranged for their cooperation in the mixing and spreading of the baits.

He instructed them as to the proportion of strychnine to be used upon each piece of fresh pork and in other matters connected with the campaign of extermination that was about to be started.

The poisoning work will be continued and it is expected that in a few months this part of the upper Rio Grande border will have been pretty well cleared of wolves.

Fighting Fish Afford

Siamese Real Sport

Washington.—Bull fighting, cock fighting and pugilism fail to thrill the Siamese, who still prefer their ancient national sport—combats between selected pairs of carefully bred battling fish.

A report to the Commerce department from Dr. Hugh M. Smith, former United States commissioner of fisheries, declares that the Bangkok champion of the fish bowl is now able to swim for six hours of attack and counter-attack against his fony rivals. That stoutest fighter of the watery arena is scarcely three inches long. Nevertheless, his performance is enthusiastically followed and heavily wagered upon. There are ten licensed establishments in the Siamese capital, which present public exhibitions of fish prowess. The tiny little scrappers are placed side by side under water in glass globes. The winning fish is the one which continues the attack longest.

Doctor Smith's chief interest in the sport lies in the scientific fact that a combative spirit in the species of fish used has been carefully built up and extended by the Siamese fish breeders during hundreds of years.

Plan to Use Lights to Film Deep Canyon

Walla Walla, Wash.—Plans are under way to string electric wiring in the chasm of the Snake river in Idaho to furnish artificial light for a series of motion pictures. The canyon of the Snake river is the deepest in the world and even in midsummer little daylight ever gets into the bottom, where the crooked stream roars through foam and mist.

A battery of powerful searchlights would solve the hindrance to successful pictures, photographers believe. Western scientists are interested in the feat and will accompany any expedition into the Snake river chasm.

DRY BROOK.

Dry Brook, May 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Morton Graham have moved into rooms in the Ramble Achery house. Mr. and Mrs. William Packard and son, William, Jr., of Sidney, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Grover Kittle. Mr. Packard, who is a member of Sidney barracks, state troopers, and was recently promoted to corporal, had the misfortune to break a bone in his foot while training a new horse for stunt riding. He left for Kingston Tuesday for removal of a plaster para cast and have an X-ray picture to ascertain if same is healing properly.

Mrs. Grover Kittle, Mr. and Mrs. William Packard called on friends on Cross Mountain Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Seager Howard of Sherill spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong, Sr.

All are glad to hear that Mrs. George Jaquist, who is ill with pneumonia at her home in Arkville, is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Todd returned Monday to their home, Pleasant View Farm House, after having spent a few weeks visiting friends in Bedell and vicinity.

Mrs. O. A. Todd entertained several guests from Philadelphia over the week end.

Mrs. George Stewart and daughter, Kathryn, were business callers in Union Grove Tuesday.

S. L. Blair, barn and milk inspector, was through this place on inspection duty the first of the week.

Frank Windstorms Put

Snow in Fantastic Shapes

Longmeir, Wash.—Frank windstorms on the slopes of Mount Rainier have been the artistic means of piling the deep snow into fantastic shapes. Viewed from here recently the huge drifts resembled strikingly a great polar bear stretched out on the skyline. The same day fierce winds whipped the surface snow into another creation declared by observers to resemble extensive displays of sacks of flour piled in rows upon rows.

Shadow, on Device, Can Stop a Train

New York.—An electrical current-controlling device that operates on one-billionth of a watt and which it is claimed will warn of the approach of thunderstorms and guard valuable property, was demonstrated by its inventor, D. D. Knowles, twenty-eight years old, a research engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

The device, which closely resembles a radio tube, is so sensitive that it can be operated by the mere approach of the human hand. It is possible by use of the device, for a passing shadow or a dewdrop to turn on the lights of a city or start or stop a railroad train, the inventor said.

the pigment test tells you the house paint to use...

SEEING is believing! We were undecided ourselves about what made good house paint until we saw the pigment test. Look at the black panel below! Note that of the six pigments used in house paint only white lead and white zinc
—the pigments used in Devco Lead and Zinc Paint—form opaque white films that completely cover and hide the surface. The others all form translucent films. That's why Devco covers better, spreads farther, gives greater protection.

Recent Events in Realm of Sport

Urbana, Ill.—Heavy and slow, but willing," says Bob Zuppke, head football coach of the University of Illinois, of his 1927 squad.

Spring practice for the Illini ended in April. The 12 best recruits for next autumn's team all are natives of Illinois.

With such stars as "Red" Grange and "Frosty" in the spotlight of the past few seasons, Illinois has done its share of spectacular work on the gridiron, but the team hasn't been able to reach the Western Conference since 1922.

Philadelphia.—G. Foster Sanford, Jr., son of the former Yale football star, Rutgers' coach and exponent of the multiple kick, is the mainstay of the University of Pennsylvania's budding corps for this season.

Six feet three inches tall, Sanford has the ideal build for a pitcher. Last season he won six and lost one, making the best record of all pitchers on the team. Sanford is also a tackle on the football team.

Lawrence, Kan.—The Women's Rifle Team at the University of Kansas won 11 out of 12 matches this season.

One member, Miss Nellie Marie Davis of Noel, Mo., made an average score of 35.8, which is considered here to be a national record.

All the matches were by telegraph or the exchange of targets, but arrangements are being made for a shoulder-to-shoulder match with the University of Missouri next fall.

The Kansas team won from the University of Nebraska (two matches), Carnegie Institute, Michigan State, Oklahoma A. & M., Gettysburg College (Pennsylvania) and the Universities of Cincinnati, Idaho, Missouri, South Dakota and Vermont.

The team sent to the University of Washington (1926 to 1928) and Maryland (1929 to 1931).

Cork, Ireland.—Private Henry Burke, the Irish light-weight boxer, has been champion, but has suffered from a shoulder injury and is having for the United States.

In 1924 Burke won the Irish and Army feather-weight titles at the Dublin City, and then moved to the United States, where he won the feather-weight title in 1925, and moving to Atlantic City, he won the British Army, German and French titles.

There's many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip.

Nerve Makes Cruickshank the Man to Watch Today

Here's Bobby Cruickshank, doughty little Scotchman, one of the most contending contenders in professional golf today. The same nerve that enabled him to escape from a German prison camp will serve him in the British and American open plays this Summer.

NEW YORK (I-N Special).—Ten years ago a little man, in a prisoner's uniform, cautiously made his way through the German lines toward the Allied front. He was suffering from the effects of two injuries, confinement in a German military prison, the terrors of escape and a two weeks' trek across country by night.

As he reached his buddies in the British trenches, he expressed surprise that there was no firing.

"The war? That's over," some one told him. "The Armistice was signed today. You should have stayed in prison. It would have saved you a long walk."

So Bobby Cruickshank, once amateur star of the Scotch links, went back to Great Britain, pretty much out of shape. He had studied law, but he found the confinement of a law office irritating as the result of his war injuries.

So Cruickshank set off for America, where a good golfer can get an operator job—teaching club members to play golf—at the expense of his amateur standing.

He served with the Shackamaxon, Oklahoma City, and Progress golf clubs. He was almost unnoticed until one day, four years ago, he made two remarkable drives and a six-foot putt on the links at Inwood, N. J., to tie Bobby Jones for the open golf championship of the United States. He lost in the playoff, but he established himself as one to be reckoned with.

Since that day he has added to his laurels. In the past Winter season he won $11,000 in prizes, leading the professionals of the country. He won four championships, the Los Angeles open, the Texas open, the South Central open and the North and South open.

Today he's the man to beat. He's in great physical shape. His nerve—it did take nerve to get out of a German prison camp—always was of the finest. He can face a scrambling gallery, two down and three to go, and play a perfect game.

His next American appearance will be in the national open championship to be held at the Oakmont Country Club, near Pittsburgh, in June. His club, the Progress Country Club, of Parkville, has sanctioned his entry at the British open in England. He lost in the playoff, but he established himself as one to be reckoned with.

Otis (Doc) Crandall is now part owner of and pitcher for the Wichita Club in the Western League. Pictures show him as he looked in the days he played with the New York Giants and as he looks today. In the interim he played for ten years with the Pacific Coast League. He started with the Giants in 1908 and left in 1917.

PLAY AT WEST.

The Wilbur Feds will play their first out-of-town match Sunday afternoon at West with a strong outfit of that place. The Feds have started the season successfully in all home contests and intend to establish an enviable reputation to read records. Curran or Smith will do the pitching for the Feds with Hoffman on the mound and the battery.

A team will leave Lynch's beach house on Saturday afternoon at 1:30 to carry the players and team to West.

Black Thunder was at a golf and country party and then continued on to the University of Washington on a three-day tour, with two wins and one place in three matches.

There is probably no team in West for any day of a Freshman at a golf and country party and then continued on to the University of Washington on a three-day tour, with two wins and one place in three matches.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

The first inter-sectional skirmish between major league contenders this season put four eastern teams on the defensive in the National League today.

The struggles bulged with promise of hard fought battles, and indications were that New York would supply the battle ground for many of them. Acquisition of Rogers Hornsby and Eddie Roush by John McGraw, the threatening early season attack of the club and a deep-rooted spirit of rivalry between the men of Gotham and the cohorts of St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago and Pittsburgh, supplied most of the background for executions of fireworks.

While their pitching thus far has been unsteady, the Giants yesterday gave further indication that the shock of the western offensive will be received with a heavy blast of hitting. Hornsby again touched off the big gun in a New York rally which routed the Robins, 4 to 1, polling out a home run with two runners on base to clinch the victory. Rogers' circuit smash was the climax of a seventh inning spurt that upset Jess Petty after he had blanked his foes for five innings.

Today the Giants were paired off against the fifth place Cubs, while Brooklyn took on the league leading St. Louis Cardinals, who rode to victory over the Pirates, 4-3, behind masterful pitching by Grover Alexander. The other two meales put the tail-end Cincinnati Reds against Boston and the Pirates and Philadelphia.

Second division teams staged a general uprising yesterday in the American League which sent its eastern clubs westward today. Outstanding in the results was the taming of Yankee sluggers by Washington's recruit right-hander, Horace Liseabee.

The former Memphis chick cut the Hagmen down with six hits and trounced them, 6 to 1.

The box score showed six Yankee errors, but Tony Lazzeri escaped. Lazzeri now has played twenty consecutive games at second base without making a fub.

Two intentional passes to Hellmann and Blue in the sixth inning failed to accomplish their purpose for the Chicago White Sox. The free tickets loaded the bases with Detroit players and Marty McManus, picked as the "softspot," spoiled the party by singling to center. Gehrig came across with the winning run, 3 to 2.

Ira Flagstead's pinch home run gave the Red Sox their fourth victory of the season, 3 to 2, at the expense of the Athletics. Flagstead made his drive in the eighth with one man on base. Cobb equaled Flagstead's feat in the same frame for Philadelphia. At least Ty thought so. But umpire ruled his drive over the right field wall a foul, and Ty thereupon proceeded to argue himself clear off the field.

No. 5 Trounces School No. 1

The School No. 1 team is no longer undefeated and School 5 is still unbeaten. The score of the game that promised to be close was a farce, 24 to 3. Ed Minasian again excelled on the mound. He fanned seven and allowed only three safeties. No. 5 again bettered their way to victory, obtaining sixteen hits off three pitchers. Topp, Savannah, Thomas, Jones and Minasian starred at bat.

FAN-ANS DOWNED.

INDEPENDENTS, 4-2.

The Fan-Ans also under the management of Bill McNally bagged another win Thursday night when they took a hard fought battle from the Independents of East Kingston on the diamond of the brick-making district by the score of 3 to 2. In the seven-inning game Vince Hart performed on the mound for the Independents and fanned eleven batters of the oil company representatives. McNally was the opposing pitcher and came within one of sending as many men to the bench as Hart. Dunn and Merritt two baseball men of renown played with the Independents.

Manager McNally has his Fan-Ans beamed until the middle of June. On Sunday the oil men will cope with the Golden Bods of East Kingston. Should the fans turn out in large number to this contest Manager McNally intends to furnish a contest to East Kingston every Sunday.

"I" TEAM IN LEAD WHEN DARKNESS INTERFERED.

The game between the Y. M. C. A. and the Warrington All-Stars went but five innings at the Fair Grounds on Thursday night when darkness intervened the contest with the score 12 to 10 in favor of the "I" aggregation. Kennedy and Costant formed the battery of the team which made the better progress while Fitzgerald and Lague were the nucleus of the losing team. Toms came on to get games with the Warrington All-Stars and commensurate with that Warrington at Kingston's Flower Shop. Games with the "I" team were arranged by calling Frank J. Wade, physical director of the Y. M. C. A.

Columbia, S.C.—Columbia's 1926-1927 outdoor season will close next month with a total of $30,000, estimate of the Athletic Association indicated today. Football was the only profitable sport, the Sports showed, clearing $24,000.

It would seem only reasonable for us to agree that there shall be no "war" until the last war has been paid for.

FEMININE BABE RUTH

Dorothy Moxak, of Hawthorne, Ill., has much in common with Babe Ruth, and it isn't her appetite, either. She's the slugging fielding star of a semi-pro team in her home town.

Stanleys Have Strong Lineup

Great Barrington Team Will Play Kingston All-Stars at Athletic Field on Saturday, May 14.

Manager McCordie of the Kingston All-Stars, an aggregation that promises to be one of the outstanding local baseball attractions of the season, has received the lineup of the Stanleys of Great Barrington, Mass., that they will use when they appear at the Athletic Field on Saturday, May 14. This game will mark the opening of the All-Stars' season and no doubt the local nine will have its hands full in this initial battle. For the Stanleys have beat and have been beaten by some of the strongest semi-pro clubs in the Massachusetts baseball circuit.

Pelco, a relief catcher for the Pittsfield Eastern League Club last year, will be behind the plate for the Stanleys. McCabe, the Stanley's first baseman, served a season as utility first baseman with Hartford. Martin, second baseman, Fan, third baseman and Mahan, shortstop have been with the club for the past three seasons. The outfield will be adequately patrolled by Atwood, Barry, Adramite and Manager Badger. Barry and Atwood have both been in the Penn. League two seasons. The Stanleys have four star twirlers in Benedict. Oshman, Owens and Mulhall. Benedict was with Springfield in 1925 and last year was with Pittsfield. Owens and Oshman will oppose the local Owens was first spring pitcher last season. Benedict will be on the mound against the All-Stars in the return match in Great Barrington on Sunday, May 15.

HIGHLANDERS WILL OPPOSE CRACKER JACKS TONIGHT

The Highlanders and the Cracker Jacks will contest in a nine inning battle at Block Park tonight before what is expected to be one of the largest crowds ever to witness a game of the national sport at the play-grounds. The teams are composed of old-timers who have capped about the diamonds in the vicinity the days of yore. There is not a player on either team who is not planning to display a brand of baseball that will open the eyes of even fan who attends and especially those who are members of the young teams who perform in this vicinity. Cullen and Wensell will be the battery for the Highlanders while Ostrander and Albright will form the nucleus of the Cracker Jacks.

Colonial Lineup For Opening Game At Fair Grounds

Shortstop to Perform Here Sunday Not Known at Present—Schenectady Police May Have a Strong Outfit. Does Jack Robins and Bud Culleton have but one or two minor arrangements to make and they will be ready to lead the Colonial warriors against the Schenectady Police Sunday afternoon for the seventh consecutive season of Kingston's illustrious baseball club. Bud Culleton is still scouting around New York for a collegian shortstop to fill the shoes of Johnny Peters. Bud will probably arrive tonight with the remaining member of the Colonial nine.

Mayor Dempsey will toss out the horseshoe, officially opening the season. Harry Malsenbelder's orchestra will probably furnish music for the occasion.

Colonial Lineup

Bud Culleton will work on the mound for the opening encounter and Jack Robins will of course be catching. The remainder of the Colonial lineup will be as follows: Vince O'Brien, first base; Matty Deegan, second base; Dell Middlebrook, third base; Bill Shay, Tex Kelly and Maury McDermott in the outfield. The shortstop position is still uncertain. Bill Schwab, Joe Hoffman and an outfielder from an upstate college will also be in uniform.

Ted Katis, favorite of the Colonial fans will be on hand with the upstate guardians of the law. Ted will probably play in the outer garden.

The Cincinnati Reds defeated the Schenectady Police team 8 to 1 in a season opener at Schenectady Thursday. The upstate cops are expected to use the following lineup: McCoverly, first base; Marterer, second base; Marone, third base; Evers, shortstop; Axley, right field; Harris, center field; Kerley, left field and Greene catcher. Either Smith or Haglan will probably handle the twirling job.

K. H. S. to Play At Poughkeepsie

Kingston High School's first DUSO League game will be played at Poughkeepsie Saturday afternoon. Poughkeepsie as usual has a strong, well trained team to uphold its honor against Kingston.

Kingston is well fixed to open fire on the Bridge City lads. Coach O'Leary has been with the players all week in preparation for this game.

"Bud" Davis, because of the way he held Albany High School in check last week will probably hurl with either Edinger, Fisher or Jones behind home plate.

Second Team Plays

While the Varsity is contending for the first DUSO League game at Poughkeepsie the second team will play the Woodland school of Phoenix at the Fair Grounds. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30.

Obtain Pure Rhenium

Rhenium, the chemical element whose discovery was recently announced in Germany by Doctors Walter and Ida Noddacks, has now been obtained in pure form. The first discovery was based on the finding of the characteristic lines in the X-ray spectrum as detected by photographic plates, but now the Noddacks have succeeded in obtaining, after long and difficult refining processes, a small quantity of the substance itself. They describe it as a black powder of high melting point, that melts readily with a number of other elements. In an atmosphere of pure oxygen it ignites, forming a white oxide. The quantity so far obtained is very minute, only two milligrams, or 7-100,000 of an ounce, and the experimenters are now at work to elaborate more of it, which will permit of exact quantitative chemical examination.

Grant Co. Locates In Poughkeepsie

Frank Furman of This City. Instrumental in Bringing New Store to Bridge City—Store To Open in Fall.

With the signing of a lease within the last few days by the W. T. Grant Company of New York City for the property 204-205 Main street, Poughkeepsie, is assured of a new popular priced department store. Immediately upon the signing of the lease the W. T. Grant Company has taken possession of the property and will raise the present structure and build a two story and basement building for its own use. It is expected that the new store will be opened for business in the early fall.

The W. T. Grant Company operates a chain of 25c, 50c and $1 department stores reaching from Maine to Texas, operating in 21 states, and doing an annual business approaching $40,000,000. It is already known population of Poughkeepsie through a branch at Kingston, while five of the more important stores are located in New York State at Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse, Albany, and Binghamton.

The store which the W. T. Grant Company will build will face 45 feet on Main street and extend back 141 feet. Both the main floor and the basement will be used for merchandising, while the second floor will be used for store rooms and receiving rooms.

The store will be equipped with the most modern type of show windows which will be adorned with polished copper with a base of marble. The interior of the store will be finished in the most modern merchandising manner and equipped with fixtures developed especially for the needs of a store of this type.

Furman, president of the Up-to-Date Company, was highly instrumental in bringing the new store to Poughkeepsie.

The new store, although operated by a syndicate, will function as a department store with over 20 clearly defined departments. Each department will be set aside by itself and merchandise of the same kind will be classified in its respective part of the store.

The W. T. Grant Company now operates 117 stores and serves a population of nearly 30,000,000, maintaining buying offices in New York City, Chicago, Berlin, Germany, and other cities.

with headquarters in New York City. The manager of the Poughkeepsie store will not be named until it is opened. He will, however, be of the present company of the company to it. New Model Gulbransen Small Grand

Daintiest design—yet real grand tone and volume at only $650

MASTER craftsmen have worked for years to put real golden grand tone into so small a piano. Now Gulbransen has succeeded.

A genuine grand piano only 4 feet 6 inches long—for $650! This is a sensational value.

The new Gulbransen Small Grand was designed under the personal supervision of A. G. Gulbransen. It is the smallest Grand Piano ever built with such grand tone and volume.

It bears the distinction of true Gulbransen leadership, representing more than half a century's experience in fine piano craftsmanship.

Dainty, petite, elegant—it is small enough to fit gracefully into any home, any room.

We want you to come in and see it. You will admire the beauty, compactness and durability of its construction, the pure refinement in every line—its complete finish in mahogany or walnut.

Do not miss this, the modern, dainty finish so easy to keep clean.

A reasonable initial payment will put the Gulbransen Small Grand in your home. Schedule payments to suit your convenience.

All Gulbransen Pianos have the same high excellence, the same beauty of design.

Opera Star Sues August Heckacher
Frieda Hempel, German Opera Singer, Says Philanthropist Failed To Pay Her $48,000 Annually He Promised Her.
New York, May 6 (AP).—Sue for breach of an alleged contract to pay her $48,000 a year for life, based on a document described only as "not a marital contract" but "a well founded both in morals and in law" has been filed by Frieda Hempel, noted German opera singer, against August Heckacher, wealthy real estate operator and philanthropist.
The suit of the 41 year old Metropolitan star was revealed yesterday when attorneys for the 73 year old widower asked for a more specific complaint.
The names of Miss Hempel and Heckacher had been linked together for more than a year and there were persistent reports of their engagement.
Miss Hempel alleges that in April, 1926, two months before she was divorced in Paris from William D. Kahn, New York banker, she agreed "for a valuable consideration" to a contract whereby the philanthropist was to pay her $48,000 annually for the remainder of her life.
Payments started April 1, 1926, the complaint said and were to continue in quarterly installments of $12,000 each. Miss Hempel said only the first payment was made.
The specific amount asked in the suit is $24,000 and interest, although defense lawyers said that based on Miss Hempel's life expectancy, an ascertainment by mortuary tables, the action might involve more than $1,000,000.
Asking for details, Heckacher's attorneys contended that the original contract was written; that it did not state the consideration for which the promise was made and that it did not definitely say whether the contract was part of an agreement of marriage.
Heckacher's lawyers said a more specific complaint would probably allow the defendant "to move to dismiss the complaint upon a number of grounds, among which may be urged to status of frauds, of that the contract itself is violative of public policy, of that it appeared upon the face of the complaint that there was no consideration therefor."
Terence J. McManus, Miss Hempel's attorney, denied the suit was for breach of promise, and added that the alleged contract was made in April, 1926, "at which time the plaintiff was not divorced" and pointed out that the court would not uphold a promise of marriage made under such circumstances.
He declared the court of appeals had ruled that the phrase "for valuable consideration" is a statement of fact and therefore needs no amendment. Justice Gavegan reserved decision.

Pygmy Sense of Humor!
A race of pygmies has been discovered in New Guinea in the Dutch East Indies by an American scientific expedition. These people use stone implements and weapons. They are strict vegetarians. When a pygmy wants to get married, he is subjected first to an ordeal, which consists in the following: He is placed at a certain distance to serve as a target for the best bow and arrow sharpshooters. He must try to dodge the flying arrows. When the ordeal has lasted long enough and he has survived, the chief says: "Here is your wife. You are courageous and feet-footed enough to endure marriage." The pygmies have a sense of humor, apparently—Pierre Van Paasden, in the Atlanta Constitution.

Left Name in History
King-Maker was the name given to Richard Neville, earl of Warwick, one of the most powerful nobles of the Middle Ages. He took a prominent part in the Wars of the Roses. He raised an army of 30,000 and placed the duke of York on the throne. Then he turned to the house of Lancaster, deposed Edward of York and restored Henry VI. The restoration lasted only a few months, for the Yorkists won the bloody battle of Barnet in April, 1471, in which Warwick was slain. The duke of York was restored as King Edward IV. Lytton's historical romance, "The Last of the Barons," is based on the career of Warwick, the King-Maker.—Montreal Family Herald.

Old Railroad Troubles
Railway accidents caused by animals are not infrequent in some parts of the world. A passenger train in Siam a few years ago was delayed by running over a tiger on a viaduct. Shortly after this an elephant, charging a freight, derailed several cars and wrecked the locomotive before it was killed. Insect pests in South Africa have been known to cause railway troubles. One report tells of a train having been delayed for two hours while the right of way was disrupted with millions of "thousand legs." In 1923 there were such swarms of locusts in one district that the right of way had to be sprayed daily for more than a week.

Wrong Town
Back in Woody, Wis., where the population is Norwegian, they tell this little story on themselves.
A big touring car came through the town one day and accidentally ran down two men. It wasn't the driver's fault, so he hurried to the police station to make his report and arrange to proceed on his way.
"I believe I have killed two Norwegians," the driver loudly explained to the marshal.
"Well," said the marshal, "we don't do nothing about that here. You got to go down to Virginia for the bounty."

35th Anniversary Of Polish Society
Sacred Heart Polish Sick and Aid Society to Hold Celebration Sunday—Mass Mass Active Since Its Organization.
The Sacred Heart Polish Sick and Aid Society will celebrate its thirty-fifth anniversary on Sunday, May 8, at the Immaculate Conception Church on Delaware avenue. At 10:30 a high Mass will be celebrated by the Rev. Ignatius Blaidys, pastor of the church, and at that time a banner will be blessed for the use of the society.
After the ceremonies in the church the members of the society and their guests will parade to the White Eagle Hall where in the auditorium of that building an address will be made by Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey, the Rev. Father Francis Fabian, rector of St. Francis Church, Newburgh, who was pastor of the Immaculate Conception parish at the time when the church was erected on Delaware avenue, and the Rev. Ignatius Blaidys, present pastor of the church.
The society was organized in May, 1892, and met at that time in St. Peter's School Hall as there was no Polish church at that time in this city. In 1893 when the Rev. Father F. X. Freruel was sent here by the bishop to organize a parish for all Polish and Slavish people, the society cooperated with him in his work and has been assisting the pastors of the Immaculate Conception Church ever since in their labors for the service of God and country.
The society now has a meeting place of its own, White Eagle Hall, which the members constructed through their own efforts. They will welcome their friends at the celebration to be held both in the church and in their building which is now among the group of the Immaculate Conception edifices and adds greatly to the parish property.
Play at Epworth Hall.
On Monday evening, May 16, the choir of Grace Church, Newburgh, will give the play "Receiving the Parson, or a Tantalizing Tangle" in Epworth Hall on Clinton avenue for the Gem Society of Clinton Avenue M. E. Church. Proceeds will be used toward the building fund.

New York, May 4 (AP).—Having succeeded in trapping a large short interest in many issues, speculators for the advance continued to press their advantage in today's stock market with shifting their major operations from one group of stocks to another whenever selling resistance looked threatening. This rapid churning about of prices lifted more than a score of issues to new peak prices for the year, or longer.

Easy credit conditions, reports of improvement in the automobile trade last month and recent stiffening of crude oil prices, together with the usual crop of merger and dividend rumors, all helped to maintain bullish enthusiasm. Professional "bear" traders continued to put out short lines in various issues, but appeared anxious to test the character of the recent buying before attempting to regain control of the price movement.

With dividend action on General Motors common less than a week away, and April sales of cars by several of the leading companies reported at a new monthly peak for the year, little difficulty was experienced in attracting a following in the motor shares. Mack Trucks and Hudson each reached new high ground and strong support developed for some of the accessory issues.

Strong spots developed in the rails, Chesapeake and Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio being among the first to break into new high ground. Public utilities were bid up in several new super-power projects within the next few months and on reports of large current earnings. Talk of a recapitalization plan accompanied the rise in Laclede Gas.

POULTRYLocal Death Record

Patrick Redman, one of the oldest residents of the downtown section of the city, died at his home, 168 Murray street, at noon today. He is survived by three sons, Thomas, Edward and Patrick Redman. Mr. Redman's wife died about three months ago. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

The funeral of the late Violet M. McDermott was held Wednesday, May 4, at 2 o'clock from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rhymer, at 35 Shufeldt street. The Rev. E. G. Reth, of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, conducted the service. After the service the remains were interred in the family plot in Montrose cemetery. The deceased was a well known and popular young lady and the floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Mary J. Beatty, wife of the late Wesley Beatty, died on Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward J. Myers, 52 Van Buren street, aged 75 years. She is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. James D. LaPine of Cottekill, Mrs. Walter DeGraff of Kingston, Mrs. William Pallen of Walden, Mrs. George Epple of Albany; two sons, Ira D. and James Beatty of Kingston. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

The funeral of the Rev. Henry Smith, who died on Monday at his home in Kingston, was held from the church at Kingston on Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Wilbur F. Stowe, pastor of the Church of the Comforter, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boere of the First Dutch Church and the Rev. George W. Gulick of the Ulster Park Reformed Church, officiated. Interment was in the St. Remy cemetery. The bearers, all members of the Ulster County Bible Society, were Dr. Julius Gifford, Ezra Spencer, Sylvanus Van Aken, Charles C. Ten Broeck, A. D. Rose and former Mayor Palmer Canfield.

The funeral of William Van Brauner, Sr., a veteran of the Civil War, was held from the parlors of Undertaker James N. Halloran on Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. Dr. Charles G. Ellis, pastor of the Roundout Presbyterian Church, officiated. The casket was draped with the American flag and the body was interred in Montrose cemetery with military honors. A firing squad from Joyce-Schrick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, fired three volleys as the casket was lowered into the grave and Bugler William White sounded taps. The members of the firing squad were: Sergeant John Mulien, Corporal Henry Nacchold, James Perry, Matthew White and E. M. Smith.

John H. Matthews, the well known plumber, died early this morning after a brief illness. He had been a resident of Kingston all his life and his host of friends and business associates will be shocked to learn of his sudden death. Besides his wife he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William D. Ryan and Mrs. John W. Crosby of this city, and four sons, Nicholas of New York city, John H. George D. and Robert Matthews, all of this city. Mr. Matthews was an active member of Rescue Hook and Ladder Company for many years and later became a member of the Exempt Firemen's Association. Funeral services from the late residence, No. 220 East Union street, Monday morning at 9 o'clock and thence to St. Mary's Church where at 9:30 o'clock a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Fuller Silent on Sacco-Vanzetti

New Petitions Filing Up at the Executive Office—First Threat of Violence Postmarked From Chicago.

Boston, May 6 (AP).—While Governor Fuller continued reticent today respecting his probable course of action on the latest developments in the Sacco-Vanzetti case, and Judge Webster Thayer, against whom charges of bias and prejudice have been hurled by defense attorneys, remained in seclusion, new petitions bearing on the celebrated litigation piled up at the executive office.

The latest of the hundreds of such communications with which the Governor has been deluged since the defense exhausted its recourse to the state courts, included one from the Massachusetts branch of the American Federation of Labor calling for commutation of the death sentences imposed on the convicted murderers and admitted radicals.

Another came from Baltimore and was signed by several professors of Johns Hopkins University and by the Rt. Rev. Edward T. Heffeneisen, bishop coadjutor of Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland and others. It favored an "advisory committee" to help the Governor arrive at a decision.

Yesterday's mail brought the first threat of violence a letter postmarked from Chicago and signed, "The French-American Bankers and Union Cooperation Ad-K. K. K.," promised death to the Governor as well as to "your judge and chief justice." No importance was attached to it at the state house.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES.

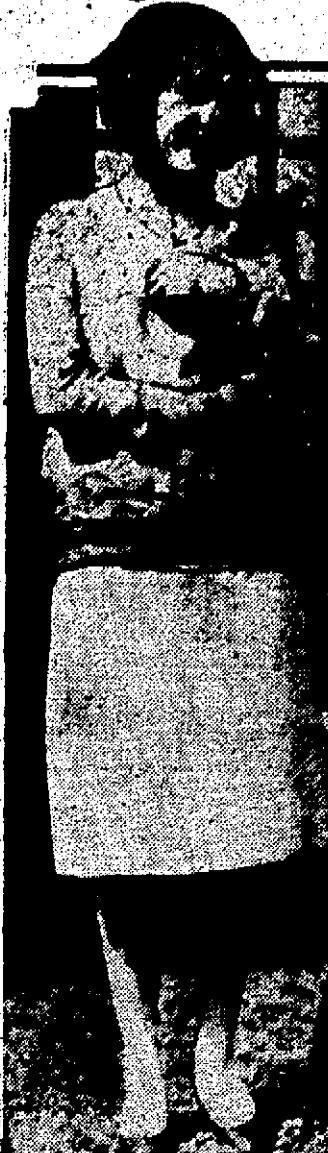

Readers Kingston Theatre will present "A Little Journey" tonight with the celebrated Claire Windsor, William Haines and Harry Carey playing the feature roles. There will be four Keith-Albee vaudeville acts in conjunction with the picture.

The Auditorium Theatre will screen "The Music Master" with Lois Moran, Nell Hamilton and Norman Trevor playing the leading roles.

The Orpheum Theatre will have on the program "Tom and His Pals," starring Tom Tyler. There will be several acts of vaudeville.

Dance Tonight.
Another of the popular K. of C. dances will be held tonight at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Broadway and Andrew street, to which the public is cordially invited to attend. A nominal charge will be asked. The Imperial Orchestra will supply the music. The proceeds will go toward equipping the K. of C. baseball team.

MAKE EVERY DAY "MOTHER'S DAY" IN THE SERVICE OF YOUR GIFT

Any gift is a thrilling gift to mother... if it comes on the wings of your devotion. But why not an Elgin Watch... as your message to mother on Mother's Day this year? Imagine her delight when she slips on that exquisite, ultra-thin Elgin Wrist Watch, a tiny poem in white gold or platinum. And imagine your satisfaction when you reflect that her Elgin will deliver to her ceaselessly, through its service and its beauty, that message which, all too often, you forget to send.
